RAFT EXHIBIT AT RECORD CROWD PLAYSQUARE

annual Handicraft display at the shelter house at 10 o'clock yesterday evening, attracted a record crowd of 2,000 to view the work of the hundred children made at the summer school.

The exhibit, consisting of wood embroidery and needlework, was opened at 10 o'clock yesterday evening, showing the summer.

Editor, News & Journal, Jeffersonville, Indiana.

Dear Sir:

I wish to acknowledge and thank you for the copy of the issue of your "Flood Recovery Edition" published August 25.

Editor, News & Journal, Jeffersonville, Indiana.

Dear Sir:

I have the copy of your "Flood Recovery Edition" and it is an excellent portrayal of the spirit of the News and Journal and your rebuilt Jeffersonville. I am sure that Jeffersonville will completely rebuild and will be a better city with its new and modern stores and shops of all kinds than it ever could have been without the flood.

"Flood waters could wash away some of your buildings but it could not dampen the fighting spirit of your citizens. Building and cities can and will be rebuilt as long as the will and desire to rebuild is there. I am sure this spirit still lives in Jeffersonville. It is typified by your special edition and also by every modern rebuilt building and business in your fine city.

With kind regards, I am

Very truly yours,

CCC PLANS FOR ENROLLMENT IN JEF-

An enrollment in the CCC will be held in Jeffersonville from October 1 to 15, at the G.C.U.R. office in the old Hotel on West Market Street.

Between the hours of 8 and 4:30 p.m. each day, it was announced.

Young men between the ages of 17 and 23 inclusive, who are citizens of the United States, unmarried and employed and in need of work, will be eligible, it was stated.

It was pointed out that youths having more than 18 months previous service, will not be accepted. Those with less than 18 months in the CCC may re-enroll one year after their honorable discharge.

The number of applicants will be limited, and persons interested in the work, are urged to register at the opening of the enrollment period.
